Accountant Is Thug's Victim

Every available city policeman is engaged in a hunt for a daring robber who snatched a briefcase containing over $2,000 in cash and cheques from accountant Jimmy Stewart of the Royal George Cafe near the Bank of Nova Scotia building at 11 a.m. today.

Stewart, who was unharmed, pursued the robber west along an alleyway shouting "Stop!" at the top of his lungs but the man disappeared from his view when he reached 101 street.

The stolen briefcase, containing all the cheques but minus the $561 in cash, was later found in the basement of the Greyhound Bus Depot on 102 street and turned over to police.

The robber was described by Stewart and others who saw the man flee with the briefcase as being about 30 years of age, 5 ft. nine inches tall with dark hair combed straight back, wearing dark clothing.

Stewart was going to the Bank of Nova Scotia with weekend receipts from the cafe when the robbery occurred.

He was directly in front of the McCree Building, almost to the bank when the robbery occurred.

TELLS OF ROBBERY
Stewart described what happened to a Bulletin reporter:

"I felt somebody tug the briefcase from under my arm. The case had no handle on it. The guy had snatched up behind me."

"I turned and saw a young, well-dressed man running up the lane between Jasper and 101A avenue. I did not see his face, because his back was turned to me all the time."

"I wheeled around and gave chase. I was shouting, 'Stop! Stop!' at the top of my voice."

"A C.P.I. express truck was coming through the lane. He stopped his truck. The driver thought there had been an accident. He got a good look at the robber's face."

"The robber turned south on 101 street as I came up to him."

"I stopped a policeman on 101 street and he went into the Nut House store and telephoned headquarters."

MISS EUROPE HAS NARROW SQUEAK

Voluptuous Lasses Win Beauty Honors of World

By British United Press

Three girls were crowned today as the most beautiful women in America and Europe.

Miss Europe, a 23-year-old voluptuous lass by the name of Hana Schall from Vienna, Austria, had the narrowest squeak.

The judges at Rimini, Italy where she won the title, were all set to award the crown to the lovely Elbe Adria, 18, of Gothenburg, Sweden. They had based their preliminary finding on an evening gown—just like Ingrid Bergman, some said.

But in the final round, the girls stripped down to scanty bikini-style bathing suits. The judges took one look. "Too immature," they said of Elbe.

Specialists said Hana's suit was the most daring ever seen on the Rimini beach.

The yearly extravaganza at Atlantic City produced nothing quite as sensational. After a week of pageants, parades and judging, blonde-haired Yolande Bebebe, 21, of Mobile, Alabama, won the right to call herself Miss America.

She revealed at a press conference:

1. She likes boys.

2. But she doesn't like them so much as she is going to let them interfere with her career as Miss America.

At Asbury Park, New Jersey, home-haired Mrs. Betty Ellen McAllister, of Johnston, Pennsylvania, won the Mrs. American title.

The 23-year-old mother of a five-year-old girl and a three-year-old boy, impressed the judges not only by with her curves but by finishing first in a cooking contest and taking second place in a crocheting event.

Mr. McAllister lined up with three-fourths of the contestants in a survey by denouncing pyjamas for women as pure poison to married romance. She favored the old-fashioned nightgown to keep hubby interested.

She said: "I want my husband to wear the pants all the time."

How do the three-winners stack up?

Miss Europe has a 25 1/2 inch bust.

Her nickname is "The Beautiful Vase." She has chestnut hair.

Miss America has a 35-inch bust, weighs 110 pounds, has 25 1/2-inch hips and is five feet, five and one-half inches tall. She has brown hair.

Mrs. America has a 34 1/2-inch bust, 24-inch waist and 35-inch hips. She is five feet three inches tall and weighs 113 pounds. She is a blonde.

2 Albertans Go to Study Civil Defence

Two members of the provincial department of health, E. Taylor and J. Beckett, will be sent to Alberta representatives attending the federal government's school for civil defence training at Borden, Ontario, next month.

Selection of the two provincial health department staff as Alberta representatives was announced today by Hon. C. E. Gerhart, Alberta cabinet minister who heads the civil defence organization for the province.

Also attending the training course will be Col. E. Ted Brown, chairman of the veterans' welfare committee for the province. A. E. Bridges, Alberta fire commissioner will go east later to study civil defence matters.

Provincial representatives will study defence measures against atomic, bacterial and chemical warfare. When they return to the province they will instruct other persons who in turn will train the civilian population.

The course will start Oct. 2.

Union Jack's Use Protested

A dirty, greasy Union Jack being used as a warning flag by city workmen today threw city officials into a flat spin.

It started when a passing motorist spotted the flag being used on a 101 street subway sign. Phoning along Mayor Dick Hanna, who taking over Mayor Sid Parson's reins during the latter's holiday, the traffic official demanded action.

City Engineer J. D. A. Macdonald threw his subordinates into frenzied action, and a flying squad rushed to the scene with a "red flag only for danger use."

Mr. Macdonald explained later that the workman had picked up the dirty, greasy cloth to use as a danger signal in a pinch, not noting it was a Union Jack.

"He had no unpatriotic intention," he just did not know what it was," said the city engineer.

School Ready For 51 Term

Alberta's new agriculture school at Fairview will open for the 1951 school term.

Oil Development Ample To Carry Smaller Crops

Momentum of Alberta's great oil development will carry this province along despite smaller crop yields this fall.

This was the view expressed here by C. R. Frost, Toronto, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

LAST REFLECTIONS of summer are caught in this scene as two small boys enjoy waning warmth of sun along river bank. They are probably recalling happier days when the snow was still out and hot midsummer sun burned down. Unlike some older folks, however, they are not saddened because winter means skis, skates and hockey sticks.

City Plans to Incorporate New Area On South Side

Initial move toward extending Edmonton city limits southeast, to include five square miles now in Strathcona municipal district, will be taken tonight.

City council will be asked to refer the matter to the District Planning Commission for consideration at its next meeting Wednesday.

In a comprehensive report to be laid before council, City Planner Noel Dant says that, in view of the city's constant population increase, planning is based on an ultimate population of 300,000 within 10 or 15 years. Therefore it is "increasingly important" that the city start negotiations for further property now outside city limits.

On modern standards, a city of 300,000 needs approximately 60 square miles for all its functions and activities.

"Including West Jasper Place and Beverly, which are to all intents physically within the total city we are planning for, the total city faces a deficit of 10 square miles, of which seven should be available for building purposes," says Mr. Dant.

He recommends immediate steps to overcome part of that deficiency be taken by acquiring 3,440 acres in Strathcona bounded by 75 street, the Saskatchewan river, the west side of Imperial Oil Company's storage property, and the CPR line.

INCREASING PROBLEM The area would include the city's contribution toward a proposed green belt around the city, as well as "very desirable land for early development into neighborhood units, district shopping centre, and an extended park strip along the river bank."

At present the district is plagued with an increasing problem of ribbon development along highways, together with subdivision of land over no detailed planning control has yet been established.

Trade Commissioner Named Here By U.K.

Bank business in Edmonton has been generally good, Mr. Frost said. The bank official is making an initial inspection visit to the Grande Prairie and other Peace River district branches today.

Adaskin Hears Six in Edmonton

Candidates Auditioned For Singing Stars of Tomorrow

Aspirations of appearing at Metropolitan Opera House, New York, Covent Garden Opera House, London, and Palais de l'Opera, Paris, came a step nearer for six Alberta people today.

With a tenure bust of Ludwig von Beethoven grimly looking down on them, the six were auditioned in CPEN studio for the nationwide Singing Stars of tomorrow conducted by John Adaskin, of Toronto.

First to be auditioned was Rose Novakowski, 1006-126 street, who has appeared in city Pop Concerts.

The 20-year-old soprano — "Gee, I'm shaky"—sang two popular classics. Listening intently in another studio, Mr. Adaskin beat time with his pipe.

When the strains died away, Mr. Adaskin gave Rose a straight talk when he singing "I pull no punches," he said. "I've broken many a heart since I started the auditions in 1942."

WANY CANDIDATES Accompanied by W. D. Hannah, advertising agent of Montreal, Mr. Adaskin will cover 8,000 miles before the final nine contestants appear in a North Toronto theatre in November.

Contest is limited to people between ages of 16 and 26. "And there are plenty of them across the nation," said the auditioner. "That's why my hair is prematurely gray."

Today's contest aspirants were Mrs. E. Edwards, 1182-67 street; Mrs. Audrey MacDonald, Lloydminster; Bernard Turgeon, Edmonton; Patsy Miller, Kilo; Bill Murphy, 801-26 street, and Rose Novakowski.

They will anxiously await Mr. Adaskin's verdict at least a month.

JUDGES SCATTERED A board of independent judges situated in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal will hear the six-week broadcast of the contest and mail their verdicts to Toronto.

Winner will receive $1,000 for scholarship purposes. Opposite side of the winner with highest number of points will collect $50, and two second prizes of $500 will be awarded.

All contestants chosen to appear in Toronto will have all expenses paid and will receive a fee of $25. Canadian Industries, Ltd., are sponsoring the show.

Blood Flown To Fort Nelson

Sea Cadet Parade

Edmonton sea cadets corps "Warrior" will start weekly parades tomorrow night at HMCS Nonsuch at 1900 hours. New applicants will be accepted by the recruiting officer.

Officials of the Canadian Marconi Company arrived in Edmonton last night for a preview of the new sets for local dealers.

Company heads include: Pete Elliott, general sales manager; George McCrea, mid-west sales manager; G. M. Morden, merchandise manager from Montreal and K. A. Jackson, manager of radio and appliances, also from Montreal.

A demonstration meeting will be held tonight at the Macdonald hotel for about 100 dealers.

RCNR Parade

Edmonton detachment of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve will hold their first parade of the season tonight at HMCS Nonsuch at 8:00 o'clock.

Rig of the day: dress uniforms, white caps and frocks.

"Fix it Daddy, please!"

MANY of the things "Daddy" must be prepared to "fix" for that son of his are obvious that he expects to take them in his stride.

For instance—the comfort in which the boy is accustomed to live must be maintained. There must be sound home-training, too... a good education to fit the young man of the future for a highly competitive world.

Yet every father risks defeat of his plans until he can answer "yes" to one question... "Will there be a regular income to carry them through if I am no longer here to earn it?"

The one sure way to provide the right answer is through Life Insurance. It can be arranged in the form of a guaranteed monthly income to replace earnings should the breadwinner be taken away.

Barricade Needed To Confine War

Crerar Says It Should Be Political, Economic, Military

WINNIPEG, Sept. 11.—(CP)—The Canadian army's commander in the Second World War said last night that a third global war will surely grow out of Korea unless the democracies build a solid political, economic and military barricade against the Soviet Union.

Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, Ottawa, spoke as grand president of the Canadian Legion. He was speaking at the Legion's 13th Dominion convention, which lasts five days.

Canada in effect, already is at war, he said. Korea was the opening battle in a long and desperate conflict with a sphere of action probably involving the greater part of the world.

The one way to prevent world war was to face the Soviet government with firmness and consistency, backed up by great actual military strength.

The democracies could parry Churchill was right in saying there still is a short breathing space to build military strength, but "surely we cannot be so completely negligent as to waste a minute."

Russia and her satellites had vast military strength that could be put into action today or tomorrow. The democracies had only potential forces which would take two to three years to put in the field.

"Unless we in the democracies now are prepared to sacrifice some of our comfort and our wealth in now erecting a solid, political, economic and military dike—a strong!

enough definitely to contain Soviet Russia and to satiate Asia—a third world war... will surely break out."

Gen. Crerar said he has seen newspaper reports that "military training and large army forces in Canada would be 'useful' of, and even damaging to, Canada's defence position."

"Well," he said, "if Russia and its satellites overrun what remains of Europe and Asia outside the Iron Curtain... Canada's defence potential and that of the United States can be put in the wastebasket."

"With the great land mass of Europe and Asia... under control of Moscow, the Communist plot of world dictatorship would have developed to the point of preceivable attainment."

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—(CP)—The navy announced that it will relieve and replace Canada's three destroyers in Korean waters with other Canadian naval units by next April.

Ferry Wharves Not Federal Item

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—(CP)—Works Minister Fournier said in a reply today to the Commons today that the Federal government does not accept the responsibility for upkeep of ferry wharves.

Replying to a question by Gordon Higgins (PC-St. John's East) as to what steps are being taken to repair the wharf at Port of Call, Mr. Fournier said no steps were being taken.

The wharf served the ferrying of mail to Bell Island and was entirely within the province of Newfoundland. The Dominion did not accept responsibility for the upkeep of such wharves.

Goodwill Of Asia Needed

WINNIPEG, Sept. 11.—(CP)—Hon. Hughes Lapointe, vice-president of the Canadian Council of Churches, said today the biggest task facing western leaders is to gain the confidence and goodwill of Asiatic peoples.

"The odds of success are not all on our side," the federal minister said in a Canadian club luncheon address. "Highly or wrongly, the western nations often appear to Asians as imperialists and exploiters."

While Communists went about making promises in Asia, the western nations created the impression, perhaps unintentionally, that we are a Canadian club luncheon address. "Highly or wrongly, the western nations often appear to Asians as imperialists and exploiters."

He said the United Nations is the ideal medium for advancing the economic and social rehabilitation of Asia.

U.S. Asks Australia For Wool Conference

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 11.—(Reuters)—The United States has asked Australia for a high-level secret conference on wool, an authoritative source here said today.

Observers speculated on the possibility the U.S. was seeking imposition of a price ceiling on wool, acquisition of the clip by the Australian government, abandonment of the auction sales system, and allocation of the clip by quota, Russia getting none.

The American request for a conference was said by the source to be couched in the broadest possible terms, and was officially merely for discussion on wool problems generally.

The United States was known to be perturbed by the volume of Australian wool going to Russia and her satellites, and wanted to stop this leakage of a material which it regarded as a vital defence commodity.

The source added Australia would fight to retain sales by auction which the wool industry viewed as the most vital asset.

Yank Bidding Boosts Prices

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 11.—(Reuters)—American wool buyers, bidding freely against British, French, Belgian and Japanese buyers, sent Australian wool prices soaring to record levels when the Melbourne wool sales opened today.

Medium quality merino wool sold for $1.0 a pound—more than double the previous Melbourne record.

Skiff Overtuns Drowning Eight

KODIAK, Alaska, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Eight fishermen were drowned yesterday in a Chignik Lagoon when their skiff overturned in rough seas. Two other men aboard succeeded in swimming to shore.

The boat capsized shortly after the 10 explorers of the Kodiak Fishery set out for Anbarage Bay, south of Chignik, to help unload the Alaska Steamship Company's freighter, S. or Splice.

Chignik is on the Alaska peninsula 100 miles northwest of Kodiak.

South Koreans Take 20 Islands

SOUTH KOREAN NAVY HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 11.—(AP)—South Korean marines and naval units have occupied about 20 islands, some of them by commando strikes, since the Reds took the Korean west coast and part of the southern shore line.

All these islands, a spokesman told the Associated Press today, are still held by South Korean forces. They will contribute to the recapture when the United Nations offensive begins.

Many of them serve as means of harassing the enemy, and the occupations were strategically planned to cut off supply lines by sea.

Children Return to School But Picket Line Remains

ONWARD, Ind., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Pupils return to their embattled schools today, marching through siege lines set up by their parents to prevent upper classes from being moved by the rival town of Walton.

The squabble kept the Onward school closed all last week but the principal and teachers hoped to get classes under way today.

Classrooms were likely to be overcrowded, however, since it appeared that all of the grammar grade pupils from Walton would be brought here for schooling.

That was all right with the parents of Onward, but they were determined that no attempt should be made to move high school classes over to Walton.

KEEP PICKET LINES

To prevent such a move, they have maintained 24-hour picket lines around the school since last Tuesday. They parked their cars bumper-to-bumper around the building, sleeping in them at night.

A spotter in an airplane patrolled the road to Walton to prevent any secret move to circumvent the pickets.

The squabble started last week when township trustee Virgil Turner announced that as an economy move he planned to consolidate the Walton and Onward schools.

U.S. and France Share Film Honors

VENICE, Italy, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The United States and France shared most of the honors at the 11th International Film Festival here—Line of Saint Mark—was awarded the French Film "Justice et Paix" by Andre Cayrol.

Eleanor Parker received the international prize for the best actress for her performance in "Caged." The best actor award went to another American, Sam Jaffe, for his part in "The Alpha Jungle."

The festival closed today with a luncheon marking the opening day of the 1950 annual of the United Nations. Mr. Martin called for strengthening of Canadian defense, maintenance of the Canadian way of life, and assistance to less-developed Asiatic countries.

Mr. Martin said "it is not our fault" if quick and effective collective action has not been possible in Korea.

"If no United Nations military force was in being to restrain the aggressor in Korea it is simply because the establishment of a force had been effectively prevented by the same nation that today alone has the power to re-assert the North Korean troops and to stop the slaughter in this distant land."

Teacher Admits Defeat In Child-Custody Fight

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Gerald Daynes, a Brooklyn school-teacher, planned to leave for home today after admitting defeat in a fight for the custody of his daughter, Laurel.

The child was awarded to Mrs. Russell Daynes, 35, by a French court. Daynes planned his hopes on her promise to bring Laurel to America for a visit in December.

Mrs. Daynes and Laurel, 8, were back in their swank London apartment. They came back by ferry and train from Paris, where Daynes had taken the child.

Daynes said he would wait the decision of a divorce court on the first disposition of his daughter, who is an American citizen. The French court ordered Mrs. Daynes to sue for divorce within six weeks while she retained temporary custody of the child.

"There's only one thing I don't know," said Daynes in the American hospital where he was treated after taking an overdose of sleeping pills. "I don't know whether Laurel was serious when she promised to bring the baby to New York in December."

Mrs. Daynes and the child were reported near exhaustion after the hectic days of the custody battle. Hotel doors were smashed with fire axes, and the child threatened to be taken back forth from the mother to father.

A recent result, federal officials were working on the case in the name of the attorney-general of Quebec.

Peace to War Shift Has Perils

Dangers Outlined for Chamber At Yearly Meeting In Banff

BANFF, Alberta, Sept. 11.—(CP)—The change from a peacetime way of life to a wartime one could bring many dangers, Canadian business men were told today.

J. GROSSMAN
... New Store

This picture of the national business scene was given in the report of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to its annual meeting, presented by D. L. Morrell, general manager.

The report said, "It would be difficult to superimpose a moderate peacetime program on the present industrial structure without limiting to some degree the freedom of producers to produce and of consumers to consume."

"Moreover, the burden on the national budget of substantially larger defence expenditures and larger social and public works expenditures could become dangerously onerous."

"All of foreboding security legislation and spending, therefore, should be re-examined in the light of our defence situation."

FACE DILEMMA

"Nevertheless, both government and business are confronted with the problem of producing and of consuming in a time of war. A practical compromise must be effected between satisfactory defence and improving standards of living for our people."

"At the same time, any business boom brought on by the threat of war does not add to the country's basic economic health and welfare. A democracy cannot turn its arms industry into a profit. It is against this background that business leadership will be called upon to face a challenging year ahead. The Canadian Chamber is effectively organized to play its part in meeting that challenge."

Jasper Place Gets Store

Belief that the community of Jasper Place will prosper in future years has prompted two Edmonton businessmen to open a new department store there.

J. Grossman, 1802-125 street, and S. Russ, 1001-114 street, partners in the city firm of Russ Importers, wholesale dry goods and small wares, will open their modern store on or about October 1, with a grand sale. The store is located at 1331-1 Stony Plain Road.

SELL ALL GOODS

The store has an up-to-date self-service procedure and a department for men's, women's and children's garments and notions.

A capable staff of well-trained saleswomen will be available when the business gets on its feet," said Mr. Grossman.

Mr. Grossman and Mr. Russ have resided in Edmonton 17 and 28 years respectively.

Re-Armament Said Preventive

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee described Britain's re-armament program Saturday as a dose of preventive medicine aimed at forestalling a new war.

He told a regional Labor Party rally in his constituency of Walthamstow, a London district, that the decision "to look to our defence was with regret."

It meant a setback, he said, to the Labor government's efforts "to raise the standards of life throughout the world."

He added:

"What has happened in Korea is only one example of dangerous aggressive tendencies the whole world over, and we have therefore to look to our defence because we are out to prevent war."

Italians Deny Machine Tools Going to Soviet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(CP)—The Italian embassy claims Italy has never shipped any machine tools or other strategic materials to Russia or its satellites.

In a formal statement, the embassy said yesterday that Italy has never exported, patterned closely after those enforced by the United States, and has refused a number of import requests from Iron Curtain countries.

Earlier, a spokesman for the National Machine Tool Builders Association, said in Cleveland that Italy produces far more machine tools than it needs at home. He added, "In the Russian market the answer."

Stable Peace Possible If Armaments Equal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson said yesterday the world situation will remain "dangerous" for some time but a stable peace can be won if the Western powers attain military equality with Russia.

In a Columbia Broadcasting System television interview, he said the United States and its allies must return as speedily as possible but that it is not necessary for them to match Russia's huge army man-to-man.

"With modern weapons and ingenuity we can do again exactly what was done for so many centuries at the time of the Roman Empire," he said. Like the Roman armies of old, the outnumbered forces of the free world "can hold back all sorts of hordes" if they have the advantage of superior weapons and organization, he said.

Floating $100 Bills Claimed

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The seven $100 bills found floating around in Cleveland's public square Friday night were claimed Saturday by a Kansas City chemical broker.

Thomas Bramett established ownership of the money through an automobile dealer who said he gave him the bills in a car deal. He said he lost two other $100 bills, but those were not accounted for.

The bills were found by Charles W. McCown, 40, a Roanoke, Va., salesman, who said he saw them drifting around in the air.

200 Million Dollar Diamond?

If a diamond as large as a baseball were ever found, it would probably be worth about 200 million dollars. But it could benefit only the person who owned it.

The amount of money which the life insurance companies in Canada invest each year on behalf of their policyholders is large enough to buy such a diamond! But this money is invested in ways which benefit every Canadian. It is put to work to help build new schools, new power plants, highways, industrial plants, homes and many other vitally important constructions. In all these ways it promotes progress and helps create jobs in communities throughout the nation.

Thus life insurance works for everyone two ways. It helps raise living standards. And it provides security by building income for old age and protection for families. Today nearly 5 million Canadians are creating this security for themselves and their families the life insurance way!

G.B. Shaw Breaks Thigh, To Undergo Operation

LUTON, England, Sept. 11.—(CP)—George Bernard Shaw was operated on tonight for a fractured left thighbone. A nurse said afterward his condition was "good." A Canadian-born surgeon performed the operation.

There was no immediate hint as to what recovery Shaw would make from the injury, but at his age it could produce dangerous complications.

The 84-year-old world-famous literary figure was walking in his garden at Ayot St. Lawrence when he slipped and fell, fracturing the bone. Dr. Lawrence William Piewa, a graduate of Dalhousie University, Halifax, orthopedic surgeon at the hospital here, was to perform the operation.

Though the hospital described his condition as "very comfortable," leading orthopedic experts declared such an accident to a man of his age was exceedingly dangerous because of possible complications like pneumonia.

Shaw slipped on loose earth while walking in his garden. He fell heavily and was helped into the house.

An ambulance was called this morning when it was found he had not improved overnight.

A hospital bulletin issued later said Shaw has a "fracture of the left femur which requires treatment by operation. His condition is fairly good and he is comfortable."

Trophy Won By Eckville

ECKVILLE, Sept. 11.—In the central Alberta baseball league, final game of the season was played at Eckville Stadium Friday night with Eckville and Stettler contending for the championship. Eckville won by a score of 15-3. Bob Smart did the hurting for Eckville, while Johnny Phillips did the catching. For Stettler, McGee to Martin.

Eckville had won three straight games, only to have Stettler come in and take two from them, in the best of seven series for the trophy. The Green's Limited Trophy, won by Eckville last year, will again become the trophy with the champs here.

Water caused two further drops in the 300-yard wide cavity over the mine, almost blocking the tunnel through which rescue squads had been passing to search for the missing men. It also threatened to turn the gaping hole into a vast lake of mud and silt.

Relatives stood hour after hour in a dreaching rain while hundreds of volunteers failed to prop the sides of the crater and prevent mud from engulfing the shaft which had been driven into the mine.

Earlier today safety inspectors called back a "suicide" squad which had gone down through the crater into the mine, where 129 miners were trapped Thursday night.

But rescue parties wearing breathing apparatus penetrated the deadly fire-damp gas and were working from the neighboring unused mine through which 116 of the men were brought to safety Saturday. The last 13 were cut off from the rest.

Other squads were working from the bottom of the main culley shaft today, while coal board officials studied plans of the mine hoping to find a new way into the sealed-off area.

North Koreans Charge Lines On Taegu Outskirts

Floods Cut Hopes For 13 Miners

NEW CUMOCK, Scotland, Sept. 11.—(Reuters)—Flood waters today lowered hopes that the 13 coal miners still missing as a result of Thursday's cave-in might be rescued alive.

Water caused two further drops in the 300-yard wide cavity over the mine, almost blocking the tunnel through which rescue squads had been passing to search for the missing men. It also threatened to turn the gaping hole into a vast lake of mud and silt.

Relatives stood hour after hour in a dreaching rain while hundreds of volunteers failed to prop the sides of the crater and prevent mud from engulfing the shaft which had been driven into the mine.

With 40,000 North Koreans poised to strike the vital hinge city of the allied front from three directions, the Reds made their first major assault from the north against the right flank of the 1st Cavalry eight miles above Taegu. After a nighting series of small-scale baggy attacks along the entire 1st Cavalry front, the Reds this morning charged down a hill directly into the American lines.

The U.S. guns poured a rain of small arms and artillery fire into the savage attackers, but the Communists charged on, leaping over the bodies of their fallen comrades. The U.S. lines appeared to be holding, however.

Eight Army headquarters officers believed the assault from the north may be the start of a full-scale attempt to capture Taegu, once the temporary South Korean capital and still the nerve center of the United Nations military operations.

FIRE IN OUTSKIRTS
From rooftops in Taegu, enemy snipers sent gunfire in the southwestern outskirts of the town well behind the American lines early today. The skirmish apparently was between American or South Korean troops and Red infiltrators. At Taegu, the gunfire was in the vicinity of the Taegu airport, that base still was in operation today.

The tension that existed in Taegu in the face of the new Communist threat was heightened this morning when an American air force plane mistakenly strafed the town. The pilot, believing he was over Kimchon, 20 miles to the northwest, made three strafing runs over the heart of the city. There were some casualties and some damage, the airforce said.

North Korean action against the northern defenses of Taegu came shortly after Gen. Douglas MacArthur had announced gains in United Nations forces in two other critical sectors of the northern front.

More Than Half Britons Believe War Is Coming

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(Reuters)—More than 50 per cent of Britons adults now believe war is coming, according to a public opinion survey reported by Richard Crossman, Labor member of Parliament.

Writing in the Sunday Pictorial, Crossman says the survey was begun here last July by "a well-known agency which specializes in market research."

Crossman says the survey was commissioned by the American Embassy "in an attempt to determine the attitude of the British people to the Korean war."

No confirmation of Crossman's disclosure was available from the American Embassy today.

According to the survey, more than 90 per cent of the British people are ready, if the worst happens, to fight it out in full collaboration with the United States and any other members of the United Nations, Crossman says.

Pact Forces Manoeuvring
HEIDELBERG, Germany, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Atlantic "Big Three" power put nearly 100,000 troops into the field here today to test their skill at repelling a mock invasion from the east.

High-ranking military observers from all the Atlantic Pact countries are on hand to see how British, American and French troops would equipt themselves in the week-long manoeuvres.

The test will involve tanks, armor and simulated aircraft drops behind the front lines. A U.S. cavalry regiment is representing a mythical enemy force of some 40 divisions, striking into Western Germany from the Russian zone and Czechoslovakia.

Officials say the manoeuvre was planned last winter "long before the Korean fighting began." They describe it as routine.

The two drivers with the highest average from both road-oo's will go east to take part in a national military contest and champions from the two services will enter the national road-oo at Toronto Oct. 24 and 25.

Changes Withheld On Works Plans
OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—(CP)—Works Minister Fournier said in the Commons today he could not give any details at this time on revision of the government's public works program in the light of the rearmament budget.

The minister was answering a question by Stanley Knowles (C.P.F., Winnipeg North Centre). Mr. Knowles asked if the minister could give details of works program changes in view of a statement by Finance Minister Abbott in his budget address that some of the long-term projects may be postponed.

Bolt Splinters Evergreen Tree

VIRKING, Sept. 11.—During a thunderstorm Thursday evening, lightning struck a 40 foot evergreen tree on the farm of J. P. Rozumel one mile northwest of town.

It splashed the tree into kindling and made a large hole in the ground. The blast shattered windows in the residence 20 yards distant, and knocked Mrs. Rozumel, who was out in the yard, to the ground, with resultant shock and deafness for some hours.

Rocky Mountain House, Sept. 11—Bears which are reported plentiful around Saunders, mining town west of Rocky, had a playful experience with local fishermen recently.

A Jack and A Case Ace

Monday numblings . . . and whatever became of Indian Jack Jacobs?

Takes took the field, decked out in their lack. They by the thought there be no Indian Jack. The turn-up was sparkling, they looked smart, they also and sleek, they forgot Tom Casey.

Personal report on Tom (Swivel-Hips) Casey: the guy's terrific. Also quite good. Personal report on Eak's offense, other than Berry to Bailey (or Paffrath) Saturday night: huh?

Tip: Office of the Western Canada Hockey league shortly will announce the make-up of the refereeing staff for the upcoming season. Three members of the four man staff will be Frank Elliott, Charlie Good and Ike Morrison.

An artificial lake, complete with live swans, is a recent noteworthy addition to the infield at Winnipeg Polo Park race course. Like Hialeah, huh?

Bob Lillis, White-Kid of the Big Four Baseball league, headed for home to Los Angeles Saturday morning. He re-enter University of Southern California for the fall semester.

Rassler LaVerne (Boston) beat his first entry for next year's show, the California Mohawks. . . Nuttall-Joe Aguirre, the "Pep" warrior who looked so formidable against Eakins at Clarke Stadium Saturday night, is 31 years old, stands 6'4" in his panty hose (those once were known as sweat socks), weighs in at 230 pounds.

Has played with a number of National Football teams, including Washington Redskins in 1945. That year Aguirre, who led the loop in placement kicking, was a regular on a club Frank Kitchcock couldn't quite crack.

Attention Anna Stukus: management of Regina Roughriders runs one of their home games, which same later is studied with a view to ironing out team wrinkles. . . Whatever because of the idea that Edmontonians wouldn't go for football in a big way?

Heard of $2,000 that changed hands after Saturday's hefty 20-6 defeat of Eaks by Blue Bombers. The guys (three of 'em) doing the collecting had bet Winnipeg and 11 points.

Reports have it that huge Ed Henke, Winnipeg Blue Bomber end, cut himself in for an $8,000 salary before reaching for a pen and contract. . . In this connection don't let anyone tell you Edmonton let Tom Casey slip away without a val effort being made to get him on a contract. Fact that he was able to mix the whopping Eakins offer means a two-week search for Casey and Roy Copeland are one, two the highest priced performers in the Western Conference.

Add happy birthday, best star, once member of New Westminster Royals, Pacific Coast Hockey league champs, 23 today: Charlie Keller, Detroit outfielder, 34 tomorrow; Emilio (The Cat) Francis, 24 Wednesday.

Roy Kelly, Cleveland Barons, 25 Saturday; colorful Johnny Black, with Fliers three seasons back, 26 Saturday; Johnny Chad formerly with EAC junior hockey, 31 Saturday. Congratulations, and may none of you ever have to rasle in mud to make a living.

Tip: Western Canada Hockey league operators will try to host the season's playoffs plan on the public in the spring. They don't discourage easy. . . whatever because of Al (Mr. Murder) Mills?

Leroy Goldworthy, Jasper Park golf pro, will be in the city briefly later this week on his way to take charge of Buffalo Commons, of the AHL, for his second season as coach. . . The sombrero is off today to Bill Dwyer, Sportsman cricket team, who scored a century yesterday in league play. The guy is strictly a good batsman.

Add another kind-of-Fort Knox debt: Septuple ball team cleaned up to the tune of $16,000 this summer on the tournament trail. . . Whatever because of pluggin' back Pat West?

Major Series To Be Played

FRANCH-BRED COLL ST. LEGER WINNER DONCASTER, ENGL. Sept. 11—(AP)—(Blue) Bill Johnston, Australian-born jockey, and Scratch it a Fresh-bred colt, combined Saturday to win the classic St. Leger race and break a 70-year jinx.

No French horse had won the St. Leger, oldest of England's classic races, since Isaac 30R in 1879. And Johnston never had been able to triumph in the St. Leger, although he generally is regarded as Europe's best rider and had won the other British racing fixtures.

But Saturday the invaders couldn't be stopped. Scratch II made his move 300 yards from the finish of the 1 1/2 mile, 100 and 110-year test and defeated Victor Manoir, the favorite, by a length.

at the association's annual meeting in Banff, earlier this year—would be believed because professional bookies increase had approved report was that the series—don't it.

The spectacular mound performance came in the second half of an iron-man stunt by the Oshawa hurler. He tossed a four-hitter in an afternoon game as Pedlars downed Toronto Hustlers 3-1 in a semi-final match.

ACCEPTING beautiful new Bulletin trophy from Jack Reilly, sports director of Recreation commission, left, is Lou Hitt. Manager Hitt's CNR junior squad has won northern Alberta baseball championship. Bulletin trophy being emblematic of same. Presentation was made at Renfrew Park yesterday afternoon, prior to CNR-Rosedale contest, won by CNR.

'Interview' With Dogs

I "interviewed" two police dogs over the weekend. They are Smoky and Asta, famed German shepherd dogs, belonging to the RCMP.

Smoky and Asta have just returned from the huge search for little Lorraine Smith up in Jasper National Park.

The dogs didn't find Lorraine but they did their best. Smoky and Asta didn't have much of a chance.

By the time they arrived on the scene, hundreds of human searchers had mowed over the area, blotting out even the child left in the woods.

Only object belonging to Lorraine that had not been washed clean was her doll and many others had handled it.

But Smoky and Asta are memory trackers when they have a real chance. They found four lost persons in the last year.

The dogs can track down moonshine liquor and narcotics. They found a wallet buried under six inches of earth in one criminal search.

I had a startling visual example of how sharp the dogs are when I was up at Jasper last week.

A Mountie used a dog by the side of the road. "Search!", he commanded the dogs.

In 15 seconds, Asta was back with the bill between her teeth.

Wonder how long it takes to train dogs to pick up money like that?

The Mounties told me some interesting things about smelly. It isn't smell that the dogs follow in tracking humans. No matter how many times you take your scent is just as strong to trained police dogs.

Human scent will rise 20 feet above the ground. It does blow with the wind, however. A hat is about the best object to give trained dogs for scent-catching. Shoes or socks are about the worst. Too many body odors on these objects, I was told. (I can understand.)

Police have to keep dogs in constant training. They lose their keenness unless they are working every day. Asta and Smoky have picked up trails after 44 hours.

Training of the dogs is more thorough than most humans receive. For instance, the dogs have to "know" when to seize and hold a dangerous criminal or when to lick a little child's face. Just a word from the dogmaster does it, too.

Asta and Smoky can take a gun away from a criminal. Police tell me few men have the courage to shoot one of these dogs when they have been ordered to attack and hold.

I've a special orchid today for Herb Poets of O.K. Construction Co. for making about 16 round plane trips between Edmonton and Jasper in his own private aircraft in connection with the Smith child search.

I've also got 2,000 other orchids for people who helped in that search.

A goodnight to all and especially to people who never forget wedding anniversaries.

Redemptorist Father Works For Harmony In Industry

By BARNEY MCKINLEY

The busy-hour of the local labor-management relations scene seems a strange sphere for a gentle, 50-year-old Roman Catholic Redemptorist father.

His Father J. J. Cunningham, pastor of Edmonton's St. Alphonsus church, believes there is a real function for the churchman in helping to smooth industry's troubled path.

Recognition by both labor and management of the Catholic priest's sincere and unpartisan interest in labor problems was given recently when he asked to act as chairman of the arbitration board requested by the 1,100 members of the Civil Employees Federal Union, Local 30, in its six-month-old wage and hour dispute with the city.

By a happy coincidence, a settlement was reached almost before the board could get down to its first meeting.

The union, having reached an agreement with the city, withdrew its request for arbitration just as Father Cunningham was starting to swing into the first job as arbitrator.

LABOR SCHOOL

The sudden settlement left him free to return to his new-found St. Joseph's Labor School, named for the patron saint of workers.

His entrance into labor relations here was made at the time of the last past-pipe strike. He saw men from the plants near St. Alphonsus out of work, and the city's great packing plant standing idle.

At the time, the main idea of the labor school came to him.

He began talking to workers in the neighborhood and then organized an open meeting at St. Alphonsus church hall. Nearly 100 attended. The gathering and some 30 signed up for the labor school, that was organized on the spot.

One year after the school continued on a more or less informal basis. The priest found he had a lot to learn himself while he was helping others find a firm management relations.

LABOR FORUM

On April 4, 1958, the meetings at the Social Action Centre, 1110-100 avenue, were put on a more skilled basis and a service of lectures arranged for a labor forum.

The course ran until May 23 under the auspices of the original St. Joseph's Labor School with such topics as "Communism, Socialism, Capitalism," "Rights and Duties of Employers and Employees" and "Labor Legislation."

One of them included union leaders, business, government officials, churchmen.

Father Cunningham has been busy with plans for a fall series of the labor forum.

He won't say religion isn't emphasized at the labor school. At times he thinks it is fundamental to the creation of accord between labor and management.

So quiet a man as Father Cunningham, a "ham" operator who speaks at times in the "The Worker's Charter" which was not written by Father Cunningham, but is an 1891 edition of Pope Pius IX's encyclical "Rerum Novarum."

The other is the 1931 encyclical "Quadragesimo Anno" which deals with the social order.

Father Cunningham, like the principles of Christian social philosophy, is interpreted as a call to repentance and responsibility.

"Mutual co-operation" of capital and labor.

Judging Prize

TOHONTSKY, Sept. 11.—(CP)—Mrs. G. Hensel, 1110-100 avenue, was the top prize for her masterpiece, judging at the Canadian Social Action Centre, Fred Hensel, J. Hamilton, with the saddle race.

Scots Enjoy Boy Pipers

On a recent Tuesday night, the McLaughlin and McNeill families all noticed their young in time of the Scottish Pipe Band.

They arrived home by car, only to find their car.

Police said they stole the vehicle in Ottawa, Washington, and drove it past the American customs without being caught.

They are believed to have made the trip to the U.S. in a stolen Edmonton car, allegedly driven by Myron Eugene Holmquist, 1941 St. street. Holmquist was arrested in Ottawa, Washington, in company of the juveniles and is now being held for deportation.

The juveniles were released by American authorities and suspected of stealing a Washington car.

The later car is now being held by Edmonton police while the Ed Smith latest escaped one in many a mischief Irish job seen in many a mischief.

Youthful Jerry Duran also was Irish in his first vocal selection, but came back with "McNeill's" as a major—complete with cane and hat—and admitted to being a house agent in the house.

Next concert in aid of the band is scheduled for Nov. 11.

WHY GROW OLD

My Arms Embarrass Me, What Exercise Will Help

By Josephine Lowman
THE QUESTION BOX

Q. "My upper arms are so flabby that I am embarrassed to wear a bathing suit or a sleeveless dress. What exercises could I take?"

A. Of course many sports are fine toners-uppers. Swimming is good and so is golf. Do this exercise at home.

Stand erect, raise your arms sideways, shoulder-height, palms facing forward. Bend both elbows as you clench both fists and bring the fists to the chest. Return arms to side-swing position as you unclench your fists. Continue.

KEEP HAIR LIGHT

Q. "I have blond hair but it is getting darker. Is there any way I can keep it light without using hair dye? Would a rinse help?"

A. Yes. Many blondes use a lemon rinse after shampoo. Then there are real rinses which last from shampoo to shampoo. Hair naturally darkens as we grow older.

Q.—Where was the first All-Star baseball game played?

A.—The so-called Dream Game began at Chicago's Comiskey Park in 1933.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Good Jokes As Essential As Good Pies In Home

I once heard a small child ask his mother why she never laughed as Mrs. A. did, as a neighboring window. Before she could answer, her husband exclaimed: "I would give a thousand dollars to hear your mother laugh like that just once," to which the woman replied by sighing and saying self-righteously that she was not of the vulgar and noisy type.

The little episode made me wonder why it is that among women cheerfulness is a discredited virtue and one they feel that they are under no obligations to practice in the home.

Yet it is the one thing that their families crave of them above all others, the one thing that would do more than anything else to make them successful as wives and mothers.

When a conventional woman takes to do her sacred duty by her family, she keeps her home clean and orderly, she serves identically balanced meals that contain the proper vitamins.

She looks after her husband's and children's physical wants, but she only too often overlooks their need to be pepped up and she fails to realize that they would rather she made good jokes than good pies.

IVORY SATIN was chosen by Miss Barbara Ruth Hansford for her recent wedding in Christ Church to Donald Lindsay Hay, bride in the wedding of Mrs. W. E. Hansford of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hay, parents of the bridegroom, also live in the city.

Joyce Farmer
Recent Bride
To Live Here

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8. — Silver standards of flowers and ferns made an attractive setting in St. Paul's United Church here recently, for the marriage of Miss Joyce Farmer, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Farmer, to Albert Lloyd Bucknell, all of Transcona.

Bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Albert Bucknell and the late Mrs. Bucknell.

Rev. S. R. McKelved officiated at the ceremony assisted by Rev. Alan Cheesley.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a Princess gown of French lace over satin. Her full skirt swept into a train and the maid of honor carried a basket of lavender.

A coronet of orange blossoms and red roses and bouvardia.

Mrs. Michael Kowalski, maid of honor, wore peach tulle, tulle, and the bridesmaid wore the bridesmaid's tulle.

Elizabeth Ann Johnson, the flower girl, was in yellow tulle and carried a basket of lavender.

Thomas Bennett was best man. Thelma Bennett was bridesmaid. John Leaman played wedding music. Solist was Roy Fifth.

Sweet peas and snapdragons decorated the bride's table at Moore's restaurant for the reception. A four-tiered wedding cake was flanked by tall candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Bucknell left to a cruise on the St. Lawrence and will later make their home in Edmonton.

Lunch Box Time Is Just Around Corner

OTTAWA, Aug. 31. (CP) — It's time to start thinking about lunch boxes. Of course mothers know it takes plenty of imagination to concoct daily lunches that are nutritious, tasty and lovely to look at.

I may suggest that you set aside a corner of the kitchen for all those necessary lunchbox trappings—a sharp-edged knife, waxed paper cups with covers, waxed paper and rubber napkins. In the long run this will save a lot of time and energy.

Two sandwiches with a variety of fillings and bread are the mainstay of any lunchbox.

Ask maid with pimiento makes an appetizing sandwich filling. Chopped meat meat with pickle and mayonnaise is another.

Peanut butter and salad dressing also is an interesting combination. An uncooked vegetable should be included, whether it be a crisp celery sticks, carrot sticks or a tomato.

The youngsters will always welcome a banana or an apple with perhaps a piece of gingerbread or a cookie for dessert.

Bowling League
IOOF and Rebekah bowling leagues will play at Stoneham Monday at 9 p.m. and at the same place Thursday at 9 p.m. and Saturday at 9 p.m.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Personal Story Given Of Precocious Child

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Recently the newspapers carried a picture of a sturdy boy of 16 months manipulating himself on roller skates. The mother of this boy has written to me about him and I am sharing her letter with my readers.

Mrs. L. J. G. writes, "He was eight weeks premature, with no hair or finger nails, but he weighed 7 pounds and in four days had gained a pound."

"When he was 6 weeks old I started feeding him meat, vegetables and fruits. At six months I fed him the foods I prepared for my husband and me."

"He had his first two teeth at 7 months and he was drinking from a cup and doing a pretty good job of feeding himself with a spoon. Now, at 16 months, he can walk with a fork and spoon and is learning to use a knife."

A SOLID BODY
"He walked in his pines at seven and one-half months and alone one month later. His body is solid and muscular and he weighs 30 pounds and is 34 inches tall. He has a vocabulary of about 50 words which anyone can understand."

"At seven days, I began exercising him gently and so he grew I increased the severity of the exercises."

"I had read of an 18-month-old child skating so I bought some for him and found he could 'too.'"

Our latest No. 40 "How the Child Develops," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.
